Phalerae  with the image of Hades -Pluto

The phalerae  with the image of the ancient god Hades -Pluto is a boutique project! For my replica I was inspired and chose a classical statue from the Archaeological Museum of Crete ,statue of Hades and Cerberus and his dog. Hades with a staff and a modus on top of his head. To the right of it below is Cerberus, a guard of the Underworld . The rosette frame limits the creative possibilities, but I still think we achieved a good result.

Diameter 80 mm.

Several types of wax were used, necessary for different types of modeling.

Silver plated version.

Partially gilded version! From the collage it can be seen that the phalerae has very high relief!

We watched the HBO series ROME and in it the popular centurion Veronese was perceived him self as a messenger of Hades/Dis and was also called in the film by his other name Pluto, which is basically the same.
